SOLUTION:

In a windy day, an old man was sitting under a tree on the wooden bench, in a meadow. Wearing old but clean clothes and a hat. The waves on his face clearly depicted the folds of time, the phases he had passed through in life. He could feel that time when he used to visit this very place with his son, as he loved playing in the field especially with the sheep. Suddenly a sound broke the rhythm of his thoughts, “Grand Pa!” the sound of an innocent but naughty child can be heard from the back, the child jumped up suddenly and took his Grandfather with him to play. The old man seemed very joyful with that child. It seemed like he was reliving the same memories, as he was jumping and playing that he forget about everything else around him.
