My Agency is looking for a strong candidate for a daily data entry and reporting position. You must understand and use Google Sheets/Forms/Docs.

This is a copy/paste job, with the ability to earn promotions over time with our company. The job is simple: You will be provided 1000 company names and you are required to search their Facebook page website and contact number, copy them and paste into an Excel sheet. You need to be quick at copy/pasting information from one place to another, and you need to be smart and organize the date clearly and effectively. We will give you instructions and guides. You have to be focused, never make mistakes, and keep moving during your entire working.

You need to have fluent English skills so we can communicate accordingly, and be a creative problem solver who can be trusted with honor.

1. Break down the above project into smaller segments (milestones). You'll be paid for milestones as they are completed and approved.
